-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --
Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-5 are presented for examination.

Specification

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure as amended.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by D'Amico et al. (D'Amico, Patent Number: 5,077,790).

As per claim 1, D'Amico teaches the method for registering a device in a wireless network comprising a central access point wherein it comprises the steps of:

- sending an identification code from the device to the access point (D'Amico claim 1, col. 5 lines 23-27);

- checking by said central access point whether the received identification code corresponds to an identification code stored by said central access point and if such checking is positive, sending an authentication key from said access point to said device (D'Amico col. 5 lines 33-38, and lines 46-47; the database is checked and authentication key or encrypted subscriber identification number is sent to the new device);

-storage of said authentication key by said device for use in authentication procedures between said device and said access point (D'Amico claim 2).

As per claim 2, D'Amico discloses the method, wherein a unique identification code is used within a given network (D'Amico col. 3 lines 28-50).

As per claim 3, D'Amico discloses the method, wherein said authentication key is unique for the network (D'Amico col. 3 lines 40-63, and col. 5 lines 33-36).

As per claim 4, D'Amico discloses the method, wherein said authentication key is specific to each device (D'Amico col. 3 lines 40-63).

As per claim 5, D'Amico discloses the method, wherein said identification code is transmitted to the access point using a secret session key and a further function known by both the device and the access point (D'Amico col. 2 lines 3-6).
